Garret Davis and a Brother of the Gallant Cassius M. Clay Comes to the Rescue.

HEADQ'RS DEPARTMENT OF KENTUCKY,

Sir: I reply to your letter of the 19th inst., which reached me to-day. I cannot sympathize with the citizens of Paris if you correctly represent them when you say, "The great desideratum is to rid ourselves of a population that will not la-bor, but simply exist as a nuisance. Where they go or to whom they are sent is a mat-ter of little moment to us, so that they be constrained to active, honest labor, and we relieved of a burden."

Such views and feelings of and toward a race born in your midst, with just such habits of industry and morals as you have taught them, are not very creditable to your humanity, or to the system to which these people have been subjected. I trust, how-ever, that you do the good people of the rich and refined city of Paris an unintenable to suggest some "speedy and effectual would meet your approbation, but I am certain that no such remedy is possible. Your people expect or desire what can never be accomplished. They seem to hope that after enjoying the unpaid and extorted labor of the colored people for generations, after having denied them all means of mental and moral elevation and improvement, enforced them to that condition the people of the colored people for generations, after having denied them to that condition the colored people for generations, after having denied them to that condition the colored people for generations, after having denied them to that condition the colored people for generations, after having denied them to that condition the colored people for generations after the colored people for generations, after having denied them to that condition the colored people for generations after the colored people for generations, after the colored people for generations and moral elevation and improvement, en-forced them to that condition that their earnings are in the hands of their late masters, and the negroes for that reson utterly destitute, some one or some people will be found who are willing to "relieve them of a burden" and eagerly accept a population which you say "will not labor, but simply exist as a nuisance." Any such expectation is chimerical. The people of Paris will be compelled in a great measure to bear this evil themselves, and if they care as little for the welfare and happiness of their late bond-men as might be inferred from your language, but lew persons can be found who will much care how heavily it presses them.

I do not think that any plan can be devised which will realize all you desire.

Under present circumstances there is but one course which can rid the people of Paris of their present embarrassment, and in that alone can they have the co-operation of the military authorities of Kentucky. This plan includes several distinct things to be done:

1st. The colored people to whom you allude must be relieved of all doubts and anxieties with respect to their status. They must be assured of freedom. They cannot and will not understand that they are free as long as men who have heretofore owned them deny it. My assurences which are as long as men who have herefolore owned them deny it. My assurances, which are sincerely given to them, that all are in fact free, though fortified and strengthened by the declared opinions of the present able and patriotic Governor of the Commonwealth, and by many of the most distinguished citizens, are neutralized by the claims of men once their masters, and whom they have been accustomed to fear and they have been accustomed to fear and obey. The clear, precise and unreserved admission of the fact of freedom is an indispensible preliminary condition to the success of my plan, which may be presented for the relief of the races from the evils they inflict upon each other.

2d. You must abandon the scheme of expelling them from the State. The idea of expulsion is morally unjust and politically tyrannical, and in the highest degree op-pressive. These furnish sufficient reasons for abandoning it, but what will have more weight with many is that it is impracticable. may, by injustice which will degrade and injure you, and by the petty oppressions which are now possible, compel a few negroes to leave the State of Kentucky. You may in this way compel the most sensitive and intelligent to abandon their birth. place and seek homes in other States among strangers, but the old and helpless, the stolid and worthless, will endure all and stay with you and burden you. The polit-ical economists of Kentucky will begin to stay with you and burden you. The political economists of Kentucky will begin to inquire soon whether it is a paying policy to give to the adjoining States all of the most valuable portion of your colored population, retaining for yourselves only the aged, the maimed, the halt, and the blind. The policy of persecution will result in this as certainly as it is persisted in.

3d. You must gain or regain, if that form of expression is preferred, the confidence of the colored people. You have not that confidence now, whether you desire it or not, need not be discussed. The unreserved admission of their right to freedom and of their right to live where they were born and have toiled, will go far toward reassuring them of your purpose to be just, and if to this you will add that perfect protection in life, liberty and property which you demand for yourselves, and which is secured to you by the laws, the work will be complete. A few years of unrestrained industry will give to the largest portion of the colored population improved habits of industry, morality and usefulness, and put them in possession of the material results which are sure to follow industry and that is all that is left, is to hug vagrancy amongst the negroes and discontent and disappoint. is all that is left, is to hug vagrancy amongst the negroes and discontent and disappointment to your bosoms. Slavery never can be re-established. To struggle for its re-es-

Their perfect right to remain in Kentucky, or to emigrate, if they prefer emigration; and I will render such assistance to those who are able to support themselves and desire to go to some other State as may be in my power. I will not encourage or aid the helpless to go out of the State. Their support is properly the duty of your own people. I will not assist in throwing it upon others.

I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully,

A large and respectable meeting of the people of Bourbon county was held, without previous notice, being improvised for the occasion, at the Court House in Paris en last County Court day. Capt. Henry Lear was called to the chair, and John Rankin, Esq., appointed Secretary. A Committee on Resolutions was appointed, consisting of the Hon. Brutus J. Clay, Major Jeremiah Duncan, Eli Current, B. B. Marsh, Harvay Rogers, Montgomery Hindreth and Garrett Dayis, and reported to the meeting the following resolutions which were adopted.

Resolved, That Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, is respectfully and earnestly requested by this meeting to issue his proclamation, declaring to the people of the United States the restoration of the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus, the non-existence of martial law, and prohibiting the military from all interference with the civil authorities.

Resolved, That the principles announce by President Johnson, that the laws of the States lately in rebellion, existing when their ordinances of secession were made, are to control the impending elections, and that all the States have the exclusive right and authority for themselves, respectively, to make all laws and regulations, and to decide all questions connected with their elections and electors, meet the unqualified approval of this meeting.

approval of this meeting.

Resolved, That the people of Kentucky generally are ready and desirous to judge the measures and administration of Presi-dent Johnson, not only justly, but liberally; and trust that, by its conformity to the Constitution, and its observance of the rights and liberties of the people, it will merit and receive the support of the good and virtuous of the living, and the grateful approval proval of posterity.

Resolved, That this meeting believes that President Johnson should at once reduce the army and navy of the United States to the greatest extent consistent with the pro-tection and tranquillity of the whole coun-try; and that he should disband all the willing to endure their share of the burdens of a system which they have supported with so much zeal, and which has created the vagrancy and vice from which they now suffer.

I assure you that I would have the supported as white citizen soldiery, and to distribute the pay and emoluments of our small standing army among the standing army amo rages of the military authorities upon the people of Kentucky, in the reckless disregard of their personal liberties and rights of property, and of the power and authority of their courts, constitutions and laws; and in its lawless, forcible and audacious interference generally over the State, in our recent elections, by which, in many of them, the sovereign will of the people was defied and defeated, we believe to have been not only without the sanction, but without not only without the sanction, but without the knowledge, and against the order of President Johnson; that they originated in President Johnson; that they originated in the narrow mind, little and envious spirit and general incompetence for both civil and military commander of the Kentucky Department. rights of property in gross ignorance or criminal disregard of the plainest principles of constitutional civii and military law; and by his superserviceable efforts to commend himself to the favor and rewards of the Abolition party in its daring scheme to destroy slavery, and subjugate the white people of the slave States, and continue itself in power by conferring the right of suffrage on the negre, and thus revolutionizing frage on the negro, and thus revolutionizing the Government, this man, in co-operation with many small cabals of mercenary and bad men, scattered over the State, and aided by the apathy, if not the connivance, of our Governor, has brought upon our lately proud and lofty State a weight of wrong and humiliation that now bows her to the earth.

Resolved, That this meeting invokes the President of the United States, at an early day, to order the assembling of a military court to inquire into the numerous military offenses, and the high crimes and misdemeanors imputed to General Palmer, in his meanors inputed to defleta a later, in his military administration in Kentucky. Resolved, That the good people of the State are requested to hold meetings in their respective counties at an early day, to take into their consideration the subject of these solutions. Resolved, That Richard H. Hanson, Esq. is requested to bear and present these resolutions to the President of the United States, and to ask his prompt and favorable action upon them, and the Hon. Brutus J. Clay is appointed the alternate, if Mr. Hanson should be unable to perform that duty. Resolved, That the public prints, favorable to the objects set forth in these resolutions, be requested to publish them.

Ebs. Press: During the past week I addressed you a short letter relative to the reorganization of the Medical Department of the Medical Kentucky.

It is a matter of vital importance to the prosperity and highest interests of our country that all departments of our Goverment, all teachers and instructors in our common schools, all presidents and professors in our high schools, seminaries of learning and colleges should be true and loyal men, thoroughly imbued with hove of country, and animated with that exalted patriotism which prompts the offer of life. patriotism which prompts the offer of life, liberty and property for the defense, the honor and the perpetuity of our Govern-

It is a well established fact in the history It is a well established fact in the history of education that students in any of the learned professions of law, medicine, or theology become the advocates and defenders of the peculiar principles and dectrines surgeons and ministers of the South acting on this principle infused the fated doctrine of secession into the minds of their students, who thus exerted an influence on the masses so wide spread and mighty that it could not be stayed until the entire it could not be stayed until the entire country was plunged into a bloody and desolating war. It is the intelligent few who are guilty of the high crime of treason. And their skirts are reddened with the blood of thousands and hundreds of thousands of innocent men. By these acts they have forfeited life, liberty, and the right of the pursuit of happiness—but our Government in its almost unbounded kind. Government in its almost unbounded kindness pardons their high crimes, permits them to return to their former homes and engage in the ordinary pursuits of life; under such circumstances, it illy becomes these men to put themselves forward and seek the highest positions in the profession. Rather should they remain in the quiet walks of life, with sackcloth and ashes on their heads, doing works, most for recent their heads, doing works meet for repentance and thus in some degrees atone for the dark deeds of the past four years. It is a duty that the Government owes to tself, which the true loyal men of the itself, which the true loyal men of the country owe to themselves, to see that all the instructors of the youth of our country shall be thoroughly loyal, thoroughtly pat riotic, and opposed to every doctrine of secession. Traitors and secessionists should not be permitted to poison the pure fountains of thought and feeling, as they gush from the intellects and hearts who are soon to assume all the responsibilities pertaining to the machinery of Government. And if boards of trustees have not the sense or principle or patriotism to make proper selections, the Government should compel them to dismiss promptly all disloyal teachers from schools of every character. The Government has said to Stuart Robinson and the once Rev. Hait, that they should not promulgate their treasonable doctrines from the pupit of Louisville, and all loyal men approved the action. Why then continue rebel professors in other important tinue rebel professors in other important positions as instructors? It may be said the war is nowover and the rebellion crushed; that these surgeons have taken the oath of allegiance and are now willing to become loyal citizens. Ah! this may be said of large numbers of southern men, but shall we at once elect any one of them as President or Vice Prosident of the United States? Shall we send them

Mr. E. P. Whipple, in the Boston Transcript, sets forth the present position of the Democracy as follows: When La Mettrie, the skeptical companion of Frederick the Great died, Voltaire sarcastically announced: "The post of Atheist to His Majesty is vacant." When chattel bondage came to an end in the Southern States, the Democrats of Pennsylvania, Ohio and New Jersey rushed into popular conventions and announced: "The office of slaves on the Southern plantation is vacant; let us hasten to fill it." This, in short, is the condensed meaning of the series of resolutions which have been passed in the Democratic Conventions in the three States we have mentioned. Whatever may be the form of words used, whatever may be the princi-ples declared, whatever may be the historical examples cited, they all unite in cover-ing the simple determination to occupy the place which "the niggers" have vacated. place which "the niggers" have vacated. The South cannot do without slaves; the blacks have been freed; now is the chance for the Northern section of the Democratic party! "The Republican rule"—so would run the resolutions, if frankly worded—"is a detestable despotism, which excludes the Northern flunkies of Davis and Lee from offices of honor and profit; our only hope is in a resolution which will put the defeated rebels into the first national positions; ed rebels into the first national positions; and with the United States Government in and with the United States Government in the hands of the authors of the civil war waged for its overthrow, we can rely on en-joying some portion of the plunder which such a victory will earry with it. "The lion having sucked the blood of his prey, threw the offal carcass to the jackall in weiting."

Here is a splendid opportunity for us to play the role of jackall! What Democratic leader does not thrill with the ambition to be that lower and inferior but still gorged and happy animal?"

This is the inward meaning and aim of the Democratic Conventions of Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Camden & Amboy. "We are," they argue, "slaves and underlings by nature and position; but for the devil's sake, do not let us lose the benefits of our sake, do not let us lose the benefits of our degraded position. There are crumbs which fall from the laden table of the South which fall from the laden table of the South of immense nutritious power to the lame ducks of politics, to statesmen destitute of foresight, and compromised by faction to generals celebrated for nothing but incompetency and treason. Let us thankfully gather these; they are our only resource from starvation; but the more dignified the form in which we express our utter debasement the better. The resolutions of '98, the champion-hip of personal rights, the loud assertion of constitutional privileges, the blatant claim to everything we have done our utmost to overthrow—these will be the convenient pretenses under which we will assert our settled determination not to die from a mere lack of bread and butter.

we will assert our settled determination not to die from a mere lack of bread and butter. We will cheerfully fall at the feet of the enemy, subdued by our nobler brethren who lacked the magical democratic name, provided thereby we can pick up a knavish political livelihood out of the spoliation of the victors in the field and the defea ed in the caucuses. Let all the sacrifices of the war be to us as nothing in comparison with our individual interests; and our individual interests demand that the old auwritten in much larger letters on the lower left hand corner on the counterfeit, and the name of "F. E. Spinner" is bunglingly imitated. The eagle in the middle of the counterfeit looks more like an owl, while the gilding on both sides is dull and pale. The spurious note is almost one sixteenth of an inch shorter than the genuine. Nevertheless, the counterfeit is well calculated to deceive, and would undoubtedly be taken by nine persons out of ten without suspicion.

A London merchant recently advertised for a clerk who could "bear confinement."
He received an answer from one who had been upward of seven years in jail.

War be to us as nothing in comparison with our individual interests; and our individual interests and our individual interests and our individual interests; and our individual interests and our individual interests; and our individual interests demand that the old autocrary of the South in the National Government be resumed as the condition and "ingger" representation is granted and "nigger" suffrage is denied. Therefore, let us by every means denounce the attempt to place the whites and blacks on an equality. By placing the blacks at the South on an equality with the whites to a political equality with the Northern whites; by denying the blacks that equality, we shall insure to the Southern whites, we shall insure to the Southern whites, we shall insure to the Southern whites, by denying the blacks that equality, we shall insure to the Southern whites, by denying the blacks that equality, we shall insure to the Southern whites, by denying the blacks that equality, we shall insure to the Southern whites, by denying the blacks at the S ern and Western States, will be enabled to blazon on our plebean scutheons the noble motto of 'I serve,' indicating our proud position of born thralls of a chivalrous aris-position of born thralls of a chivalrous aristocracy of birth, of blood, of manners and of unborn capacity to rule."

That this is the real meaning of the resolutions of the Pennsylvania, Ohio and New Jersey Democracy it is hardly necessary to enforce on men of common political intelligence. We feel assured that the nominees and speakers of those Conventions will secretly admit our interpretation of their cretly admit our interpretation of their mysteries to be true. Such "swells" as the Hon. Richard Vaux, of Philadelphia, the Hon. H. W. Petriken, of Lycoming, the Hon. B. F. Myers, of Bedford, the Hon. C. L. Lamberton. of Clarion, the Hon. W. A. Wallace, of Clearfield, the Hon. C. L. Vallandigham, the Hon. George W. Morgan, would justly consider themselves grossly insulted if we had the audacity to charge them with being dupes of schemes of which they could rightly claim the honor of being the originators.

This section was intensely pro-slavery originally, and is so still. The return of many hundred rebels to the counties in the district has not helped the cause of peace. Many of the Union men have been com-Many of the Union men have been com-pelled lately to flee from their homes to Pa-ducah and Columbus. This simple fact has produced its natural fruit. There are no appearances of a revival of industrial pursuits, the negroes are all running away, the whites do not know how or are too lazy to work, there are no horses or plows to work with, and the country, naturally as rich and fertile as any under the sun, is going to rack and ruin. Paducah, which used to be a lively city before the war, and annually did a trade amounting to millions of dollars with the counties of McCracken, Ballard, Graves, Marshall, Hickman and Callaway, is now a deserted, idle place. Paducah, in fact, is a type of the whole section. The railroad which ran originally to Mayfield has been abandoned and torn up; the country has been pillaged by rebel friends and Yankee foes, and is about as bad off as any part of the whole South. The people are living in the most primitive way, and the only hope of their future prosperity lies in the infusion of Yankee spirit, and a rousing appropriate left that the prosperity lies in the infusion of Yankee spirit, and a rousing up from the lethargy brough on by hugging slavery and loving the re

I have chosen the present auspicious time to do so. Your duties, voluntarily a sumed, to the National Governmant, are about terminating. You are returning from vicorious campeigns, and from a war now happily ended, in which, with Him. you were all engaged to save our country from derision, dest polion and ruin, returning to enjoy the fruits of victory, won under his chief direction as the constitutional head of the army and navy; your constant, steady and faithful frand; your wise adviser, and your companion in all the trying and annoying difficulties which go to make up the life of the soldier, during the frightful period of real and terrible war. Thousands of you have alreadly been honorably mustered out of the service, but many thousands more are waiting and preparing soon to be. Your organizations will all, in a short time, have only an historical existence. You are to be scattered all over a peacodu country, in homes made happy by your own noble efforts. You live to enjoy, in all its splendor, the liberty of a nation that cannot die, but he whom we chiefly honor, has not been spared to realize these splendid results. the hopes of every day for four long years—nor to meet and encourage us by his kind salinations—by his almost infinite wisdom, to counsel and direct us through the perils of political strife almost certain to follow the sudden return or peace, the flight of which fourly are save, brought men' to teler senses and upset the trade of those who a ways sourch, and always will, to creat discord for personal advancement.

Seth Kinman, the California nunter, pre-sented the President on Friday with a very unique chair made of two grizzly bears cap-tured by himself. The famous hunter presented it in person, and the President ex-pressed his gratification and thanks. It will be remembered he made a similar present to President Lincoln.

At a meeting of the citizens of Belpassi Oregon, on the 19th ult., resolutions were passed to the effect that, Missouri and other States having disfranchised persons engaged in the late rebellion, and as many of these disfranchised rebels were emigrating to Oregon, it was declared to be highly detrimental to the peace and prosperity of the State to be over-run by this class of persons; and it was recommended that measures be taken to protect the "State from such en-

Edwin Booth's return to the stage we have already hinted at. A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune gives the details;

The talented Edwin Booth is soon to reappear on the stage. At the time of the sad occurrence that drove him to private life, he announced his determination never to come before the public again. Of the most come before the public again. Of the most earnest and uncompromising loyalty, and possessing social qualities that had won him many friends, he received the hearty sympathy of the Northern people. Before the close of April his admirers made preliminary arrangements, unknown to Mr. Booth, to bring him upon the stage during the present autumn. He has now joined his brother-in-law, Mr. Clarke, of Philadelphia, in the management of the Arch Street Theater of that city. He will not appear before the audiences of Philadelphia for the before the audiences of Philadelphia for the present, and it is probable that the design of a testimonial benefit in New York will be carried out. Beyond question the best American actor in the standard drama, Edwin Booth will receive the rapturous applause of the theater-going public of this metropolis whenever he consents to appear at the footlights.

A Paris correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette writes:

Wherever one walks there is the evidence of the military greatness of France. Algerian guards stand at the gates of the Tuilleries. Swarthy Arabs, Africans and Mexicans parade the streets, and forget in mirably endowed than any that have been." Mexicans parade the streets, and forget in the pleasures of the gay capital that they have been brought thither with yokes upon their necks. The blacks do indeed have a good time of if in Paris; they are the lions. In all the dramas at the theaters it is an object to bring upon the stage as many persons of the color of Abd-el-Kader as possible, and whenever a negro comes on, the audience applauds him heartily. If I were an American negro, I would put on Turkish trowsers, a blue silk jacket, a deep red skull cap, with a yellow tassel on it, come to Paris and jabber in an unknown and unknowable tongue at everybody. I have seen many dozens of such in Paris feted at every turn, and moving in the highest soevery turn, and moving in the highest so-ciety, who in America, dressed in Kentucky jeans, would have hoes put into their hands and be "reconstructed" in five minutes,

In the advocacy of the Republic, and no apology is to be made for holding and governing them as such. While the ballot-box is the rightful source of authority over We believe profoundly in the Jeffersonian adage that "error may be tolerated where reason is left free to combat it." And we deem it one of the prominent and very grave evils of civil war, that it necessarily imposes more or less restraint upon free speech, the grand and all-sufficient weapon of truth. And nothing connected with the late struggle confers a more shining and glorious lustre upon this Republic and people than the conspicuous and wonderful range given to malcontents in the North to pour out their vituperation and scarcely hidden treason against the solid and invincible patriotism of the land. Wherever there was no danger of positive violence resulting from these shameful tirades, they were tolerated in the sacred name of "free speech," and the extent of that toleration we repeat, confers special dignity and honor upon us as a nation.

There is not another nation on the globe that could or would have permitted, during a civil war that well-nigh absorbed the attention and energies of the entire people, the unchecked circulation of daily newspapers committed to the enemy's cause. Though these papers have plucked down everlasting shame and reproach upon themselves, they have served unwittingly to vindicate the strength of our institutions and the safety of tolerating error where points, of the late conflict, furnish grandly It is reported that the rebel Gen. We will not deny that we felt at times that this rope joke was being carried a little too far, that there was a dangerous excess of freedom permitted to these persons. He anticipates that God will, out of "many races gathered on this continent mold one new race more rich and strong and adclass or race of human beings leads to their more or less rapid amalgamation with the superior race or class. The fact is sufficiently dishonorable to human nature, but

The democrats of New Jersey have nominated one Gen. Runyon as their candidate for Governor. He is a militia hero, and was within ten miles of the battle of Bull Run. He has made a speech since his nomination, in which the following passage occurs: "Though the war is closed, there is no such Union as we had, and there will never be a union of hearts and interests until democratic doctrines again prevail in the emancipated African. We deem all efforts to discover the secret speculative and useless dreaming. What we do know is that it is our duty, and the duty of the Democrat editor, to give the negro precisely the same freedom to work out his destiny that we Holy Spirit upon our land. What is happening to the "Associated Press?" Have the individuals composing that organization been so robbed of sleep during the years strain upon them in keeping pace with events, that they are now taking one stupendous and protracted snooze? One would think so. Items of news, fragments of editorial wisdom and public documents, are laboriously telegraphed over the country by the Associated Press, anywhere from twenty-four to fortyeight hours after the same have been conveyed in much ampler proportions, and more legible condition by the mail. Will somebody wake up the telegraph a bit?

Such had been the good results of State and County Fairs held under the auspices of the different agricultural societies. The unsettled condition of our State during the war not only intimidated the agriculturist and obliged him to forego the pride of competing for the liberal prizes offered, but drove from the State most of the fine stock. The raids of predatory bands rendered this necessary. But the spirit of the productive enterprise in our sturdy yeomanry is as high as heretofore, as this exhibition plainly evinces.

Mr. Herr has devoted much time and attention to the raising of sheep, and has undoubtedly the finest flock in Kentucky. He bids fair to become one of our leading fine-stock raisers.

To-day will be a gala day at the grounds. Thorough bred stock, of which there is a large amount on the ground, will be exhibited. Besides, there will be a riding ring for Misses, which will be very interesting, there being, we understand, about eighteen contestants for the prize. This will, of course, draw a large crowd of ladies to the grounds. In addition, there will be three

The citizens of our city should take a deep interest in these exhibitions, for in fostering the agricultural interest depends, in a great measure, the successful growth of our city. Besides the fair presents a good opportuniish delight in tumults and strife. As the Democrat rejects dictionary definitions it is impossible to say precisely what it means by "the people." Only by collating paragraphs from its columns and making paragraphs from its columns and making numerous and tedious comparisons can one arrive at even its probable meaning. Robbery.-Alice Nelson, a negro who has been in the employ of Mr. Bird for a short time, has been improving that time by robbing the family. A lot of jewelry valued at $500 or $600 is missing, and there seems to be but little doubt that Alice has made way with it. Officer Cave lodged her in jail yesterday. She will not tell where the jewelry is concealed.

SHOT HIS WIFE.—Yesterday afternoon about four o'clock a free negro named John H. King, residing on First street between Washington and the river, accidentally shot his wife. He was putting a pistol in Sunday, when the horse ran away and the the case, when it was accidentally discharged, the ball entering the abdomen of his wife and lodging in her back. The County Court of Alexandria county. Va., has decided that negroes, arraigned for trial, are entitled to trial by jury, and cannot be convicted of felony except by the unanimous decision of twelve men, under the Virginia Bill of Rights. The Alexandria Journal says that according to the Bill of Rights, also, negroes who can show evidence of a common interest and attachmen to the community, are entitled to the righ of suffrage.

Southerners Call on the President .- The

Washington, Sept. 12.—The following are the main points of a very important speech made by President Johnson to the delegation from the Southern States:

GENTLEMEN—We have passed through the rebellion. I say we, for it was we who were responsible. Yes, the South made the issue, and I know the nature of the Southern people well enough to know that when they have become convinced of an error. ern people well enough to know that when they have become convinced of an error, they will frankly acknowledge it in an open and direct manner. And now in the performance of that duty, or indeed in the act they undertake to perform, they do it heartily and frankly. Now that they come to me they understand me as saying that we made the issue. We set up the Union of the States against the institution of slavery. We settled the arbitration by the god of battles. The argument was the sword.

The issue was fairly and honorably me The questions presented have been settled against us, and we are prepared to accept the issue. I find on all sides this spirit of candor and honor-prevailing. It is said by candor and honor-prevailing. It is said by all the issue was ours, and the judgment has been against us. The decision having been made against us, we are bound in honor to accept the arbitrament. In doing this, we are doing ourselves no dishonor, and do not feel humiliated or degraded, but rather that we are ennobling ourselves by these actions and we should feel that the Government has treated us magnanimously and meet the Government upon the terms that it has so magnonimously offered us. So far as I am concerned personally, I am not influenced by any question, whether it appears in the North or South the East or

I stand where I did of old, battling for the Constitution and Union of the United States. In doing this I know I opposed you of the South—when secession was being arged on the country, and you declared your right to break up the Government and disintegrated the Union. I stand as I have ever stood, firmly in the opinion that a monopoly combined against this country must go down, and the country must go up. Yes, the issue was made by the South against the Government, and the Government has triumphed, and the South, trueto her ancient attributes of frankness and candor, comes forward and expresses her willingness to abide by the decision in good

While I rejoice that the rebellion has been arrested and subdued, I am happy in the consciousness of a duty well performed. I now not only would have you, but the people of the whole world, to know that while I declared and feared a disintegration of the States, I am equally opposed to con-solidation or concentration of power here under whatever guise or name. They fear an issue is fraud upon us.

I shall still endeavor to pursue some that my aspirations are sharp; that I had vindictive feelings to gratify, and that I should not fail to avail myself of the op-should not fail to avail myself of the opportunities that would present themselves to gratify such despisable feelings. If my acts will not speak for me and for themselves, then any professions that I might now make would be useless—but gentlemen if I know myself, as I think I do, I know I am of the Southern people, and I love them, and will do all in my power to restore them to their state of my power to restore them to their state of happiness and prosperity which they en-joyed beforethe madness of misguided men in whom they had reposed their confidence led them astray.

If there is anything that can be done on my part on the correct principles of the Constitution to promote these ends, be assured it shall be done. Let me assure you, also, that there is no disposition on the part of the Government to deal harshly with the Southern people.

There may be speeches published from various quarters that may breathe a different spirit. But do not let them trouble or excite you. Believe that it is the great phicat of the Government to work, the object of the Government to make the Union of these United States more com-plete and perfect than ever, and to main-tain it on constitutional principles, more firmly, if possible, than it has ever before Then why can't we all come up to the work in a proper spirit? in other words, let us look to the Constitution. The issue has been made and decided. Then, as wise men, as men who see right and are determined to follow it, as fathers and brothers, and as men who love their country in this hour of men who love their country in this hour of her trials and suffering, why can't we come up and help to settle the questions of the hour, and adjust them according to the principles of honor and of justice? The institution of slavery is gone; the former status of the negro had to be changed, and we, as wise men, must recognize so potent a fact and adapt ourselves to circumstances as they surround us. [Voice—We are as they surround us. [Voices—We are willing to do so.] Yes, sir, we are willing to do so. I believe you are, and I believe your faith is pledged when your consent has been given. As I have already said, I believe it will be maintained in good faith, and every promise fully sustained. [Cries —It will.] What I ask or desire of the South or North, the East or West, is to be sustained in carrying out the principles of the Constitution. It is not to be denied that we have been great sufferers. On both sides good men have fallen, and much misery is being endured. As a necessary result of such a contest, our country has sult of such a contest, our country has been scored all over. Then why can't we approach each other on principles which are right in themselves and which will be productive of good to all. The day is not distant when we shall feel like some family that has been estranged for a time, various members of which have come together and compared the evils and sufferings they had inflicted on each other. They had seen the influence of their error and its result, and governed by a generous spirit they had become mutually forbearing and forgiving, and return to their old habits of fraternal kindness and become better friends than every They let us consider that the ford which kindness and become better friends than ever. Then let us consider that the feud which alienated us, has been settled and adjusted to the mutual satisfaction, that we come together to be bound by firmer bonds of love, respect and confidence than ever. The North can not get along without the South, nor the South without the North; the East without the West, nor the West without the East, and I say it is our duty to do all that within our power lies to perpetuate and make stronger the bonds of our Union, saying that it is for the common good of all that we should be united. I feel that this Union, but the creation of a century, is to be perpetuated for all time, and it can not be destroyed except by the all wise God who created it.

The Wi z Trial--Proceedings Yesterday. Washington, Sept. 12.—Mr. Baker, in accordance with the ruling of the court yesterday, presented a partial list of witnesses whom he desired to have subpened, first: Jas. Orman, of Atlanta, Ga. He was Adjutant from the middle of July, 1864, to April, 1865, and could give full and minute accounts of all transactions while at Andersonville Jas. Armstrong, of Macon, Ga., was one of those whom the courier could of the large countries or of the courier could be accounted to the courier of the courier could be accounted to the courier could be ac was one of those whom the courier could not find; he was commissary of the post before Capt. Wirz was placed in command of the prison and until April '65, and could state the condition of the commissary supplies all the time. Maj. Proctor, of Mammoth Cave, Ky., was acting commissary during Armstrong's sickness, and could swear no supplies could be procured for the hospital.

Felix Dearing testified, among other things, of Wirz firing shots at two men who were drawing water. He said one of them was in a dying condition. Wirz accompanied the act by saying, "that's the way I get rid of the s— of b—." He saw two men killed at the dead line. As for himself, when he was conveyed to the prison he weighed 158 pounds, but when he left he weighed only 90 pounds, and was a mere skeleton. He owed the saving of life to Dr. Bates, an acting surgeon at the hospital. In the starved condition of the prison rats were a great delicacy. Dr. Bates managed to get them something to eat.

Rev. Father Hamilton, residing at Macon, testified to his acting as a Missionary at Andersonville, and gave many points of interest, including the distressing condition of the prisoners from sickness and suf-fering. Witness stated that Gen. Howell Cobb asked what he would recommend should be done—he advised that officer to parole all prisoners on their word of honor, and send them to Tallahasse, Fla. He gave Gen. Cobb a particular account of the prison affairs. The particulars of this affair appeared in all newspapers.

Affairs in Georgia--Cotton.

Washington, Sept. 12.—An army officer who has arrived here direct from Georgia, reports that while recently traveling from Atlanta to Savannah he saw in all directions trains loaded with cotton on the way to points where the staple could be transported to market, either by rail or water. The was large quantities at Augusta. He states that the people of the country, especially those who have severely suffered by the war, express an apparently sincere desire to conform to the changed condition of affairs, and sustain the General Govern ment, while in towns which have sustained comparatively little damage by the war, a spirit of dissatisfaction exists, principally confined to young men, who do considerable boasting.

New Guerrilla Outrages in Va. Troops Sent to the Scene of Action An Order from Secretary of War.

A New Military Commission in Washington.

Proceedings of the Indian Council

Matters Progressing Satisfactorily

Treasurer of Ohio Under Arrest. European Capitalists in Cinc'nati

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The Tribune's Metamoras correspondent says: The aid want-ed by the chiefs of the Liberal party is a legion of about 10,000 men in order to force all leaders to obey the regular Generals, and to take and hold some point as a center of union. In my conversation with Trevino de Leon and others they dwell upon these two points.

The Liberal forces are now split up into small bodies, each operating in a State. When two or more of these bodies unite, a French force is sent against them, and ow-ing to the quality of the latter, the result of nearly every fight is in their favor. A column of 10,000 men entering this country now would find the Imperial forces in small bodies, and spread all over a vast extent of territory, and would be able to beat these bodies in detail, and drive them in great haste from the points they hold, with loss of war materials.

To raise a legion of 10,000 men, one miltion dollars is necessary to begin with, and this is the great want at present. If that sum could be raised there would be means to arm, clothe, and feed the legion until some points in this country, such as Matamoras, could be taken, and a few million dollars raised by requisition dollars raised by requisition.

A commissioner is at this moment in Brownsville with instructions from St. Lada de Lexda, Minister of Foreign Affairs, to raise a loan of one million dollars, to raise a legion, buy so many stand of rifles, so many rounds of ammunition, six batteries of rifled guns, so many rounds of shells and case-shot, &c. But the com-missioner cannot raise the loan, and will not do the rest with no funds, as it would be folly.

The facts are these: There is to be no war at present in favor of Mexico. The or-der to Gen. Sheridan shows that the Libe-ral party wants private aid from the United States, and is lost without it. If 10,000 to 20,000 men can be raised for the party it may retain power.

The Heraid's Vera Cruz correspondence of the lst says: The Imperialists were in a state of intense excitement and joy at the official announcement by Marshal Bazaine

COAL BOAT TIDE AT PITTSBURG—TEN

FEET WATER IN THE CHANNEL-COAL STARTED.—As we stated in the Press the STARTED.—As we stated in the Press the other day the late rains have caused a good tide of water at Pittsburg, with fully ten feet water in the channel at that point last Sunday evening. The agent of the telegraphic reporter of the Associated Press at Pittsburg has been suborned probably to withhold the facts whenever the river rises, or what explanation can be given for this persistent course of always withholding the reports of the stage of water whenever they reports of the stage of water whenever they are the most desired. It has invariably been the case that whenever the river rises
